

AustriaTech-Newsletter, Issue 04/19

Dear readers,

April was an exciting month for us at AustriaTech: with five citizen dialogues in different Austrian cities, AustriaTech took part in a globally organized series of discussion events on automated mobility. First results are already available for Austria.

The following awaits you in June: AustriaTech will be present at the ITS European Congress in Eindhoven and our experts will host sessions on various mobility issues.

Your Checklist for E-Mobility

E-mobility makes an important contribution to the climate goals, thus the switch to electric cars should be as easy as possible for private individuals. The aim of the "e-Mobility Check" project is to develop a decision basis for the construction of e-mobility charging infrastructure in existing housing facilities.

First results of the citizens' dialogue

The Austrian dialogues on 6.4.2019 marked the start of the global citizen dialogue series on automated mobility. First results from the five participating cities can already be read. >>> more

To enable seamless travel chains

The project "LinkingDanube" deals with the concept of the "Linking of Services": an Europe-wide, easy access to travel information for customers and an efficient traffic management in public space. How can this work? >>> more
